

Agreement regarding activities for the benefit of Cunina.

Listed below you will find the basic principles to follow while organizing an activity for the benefit of Cunina. By signing this agreement, the person organizing the event (in the text referred to as 'the organizer') agrees to plan this activity in full accordance with these principles.

1. Registration

In order to avoid abuse, all activities need to be registered through the Cunina website by filling out the event form. Cunina reserves the right to refuse activities that are not in line with the organization's philosophy and hence not to register them. Cunina will inform the organizer should this be the case.

2. Communicating about Cunina

Use of Cunina's name and logo

The name Cunina can be used as long as it is clear that this event is organized for the benefit of Cunina and not by Cunina itself.

Cunina has designed a specific event logo that can be used in all of the organizer's communication. The event logo will be sent to the organizer together with the registration form. It is not permitted to use Cunina's official logo for activities in aid of Cunina.

All uses of the name Cunina or the event logo are to be submitted for approval prior to use to Cunina via elke@cunina.org.

Clear communication

Clear communication is of the utmost importance while approaching sponsors and other parties involved. The organizer is required to make clear that he is raising funds for the benefit of Cunina and is clear about the donation's allocation. Eg. 50% of all proceeds is reserved for Cunina.

3. Sponsoring

Cunina can rely on the support of a number of sponsors and partners, with whom we have an agreement. It is not permitted to approach these companies for the sponsorship of your own events. You can find a list of these partners and sponsors on <http://cunina.robarov.com/over-cunina/bedrijven>

4. Proceeds of the event

The organizer commits to transfer all proceeds of the event within one month after the event has come to an end into Cunina's bank account.

Stating the registration number

Mentioning the registration number enables our accounting department to identify your event.

To avoid abuse Cunina asks the organizer to keep open books while organizing an event in aid of Cunina, so the accounts can be looked into by Cunina at all times.
